California Delegation Makeup:

There are two seats on the California Congressional Delegation that remain undecided. As of this writing, mail-in votes are being counted for the 11th and 20th Districts. At this time, in the 11th District, Jerry McNerney has a 441 vote lead over David Harmer (47.6% to 47.4%) and Andrew Vidak has a 1,823 vote lead over Jim Costa (51.5% to 48.5%). If these candidates maintain their leads, then Republicans will pick up one seat in the Central Valley. Two other changes result from retirements: Karen Bass is taking Diane Watson's seat, and Jeff Denham is taking George Radanovich's.

House of Representatives:

At this time, the Republicans have won 244 seats in the House and the Democrats have 186, with 10 seats still undecided. Nancy Pelosi, will no longer be Speaker; John Boehner of Ohio will assume that role in the next Congress. Representative Pelosi has announced that she will run for Minority Leader. Steny Hoyer of Maryland, who is the current Majority Leader, will compete with current Majority Whip James Clyburn for the Minority Whip position.

The T&I Committee Chair should go to John Mica of Florida, who is the ranking member (see below). T&I Chairman Jim Oberstar lost his campaign for re-election. Nick Rahall of West Virginia is the next senior Democrat on the committee, followed by Peter DeFazio of Oregon and Jerry Costello of Illinois. All three appear interested in becoming the Ranking Member. There have also been reports that the overall size of the T&I Committee may be shrunk to membership levels comparable to other authorizing committees (~45-50 members).

On the Appropriations Committee, Jerry Lewis and Hal Rogers of Kentucky are the leading contenders for the chairmanship. Either would need a waiver under GOP term-limit rules to serve as chair. Both are actively canvassing the Republican Conference for support.

The other thing that will change is the makeup of the House Committees, whose party ratios will now reflect the new Republican majority. It is likely that California's membership on the T&I and Appropriations Committees will shift to reflect the Republican majority. If the Democrats follow strict seniority rules, this will eliminate opportunities for junior members to continue serving on these committees.

While California has lost the influence of the Speakership in the House, it could experience other gains in leadership. Kevin McCarthy of Bakersfield is poised to become the Majority Whip in the House. In addition, David Dreier will regain the chairmanship of the Rules Committee; Howard "Buck" McKeon will chair Armed Services; and Darrell Issa will become the Chair of the Oversight and Government Reform Committee.

Senate:

In the Senate, Republicans hold 47 seats and Democrats hold 52, the Alaskan Senate race is still undecided because of the 41 percent write in returns, the majority of which are presumed to be for the incumbent Republican Senator Lisa Murkowski. At this point, it appears that Harry Reid will retain his position as Majority Leader and that Senator Boxer will continue as Environmental and Public Works Committee Chair.

Outlook for Authorization:

One thing that does not change is the calculus for funding a new authorization bill. The most likely scenario is going to be an extension or series of extensions of SAFETEA-LU because of the difficulty in resolving the funding issue.

Absent a desire to raise taxes, a new Congress is going to need to rely more on P3's and innovative financing methods as an alternative. This means that the oppressive P3 oversight programs proposed by Chairman Oberstar would not likely find its way into a new bill. It is also possible that the Congress will go with a much more narrowly focused federal role in transportation as a way of reducing the need to grow the program.

It is possible that investments in High Speed and Intercity Rail will be vulnerable, followed by any broadening of urban programs that would mandate complete streets or make off-system investments. Investments in the national highway system would likely remain a priority, especially if they are goods movement related (but not for privately-owned freight rail). It is also possible that competitive discretionary programs like TIGER 1 and TIGER 2 would also fall to the wayside as it is unlikely that a Republican Congress would be willing to allocate unfettered discretionary responsibility to a Democratic Administration.

John Mica has released a statement that it is his priority is to pass authorization bills for surface transportation, aviation, and the Coast Guard as well as a new water resources (Corps of Engineers) bill. He indicated that for surface transportation, he will focus on streamlining the process to shorten delivery and freeing up idle infrastructure funding. This may mean that there is a potential for a rescission of older unobligated earmarks and other unobligated balances, potentially in the TIGER and High Speed Intercity Rail programs.

Earmarks:

It will be interesting to see how the new Congress deals with earmark programs. Last year, both Parties agreed to reduce the size and number of earmarks, with the Republicans adopting an outright ban for one year and the Democrats adopting a transparent process that prohibited earmarks for private sector benefit. As of this writing, Speaker-elect John Boehner has called for a renewal of this pledge against earmarks and President Obama has called the elimination of earmarks, an area of agreement between him and Boehner. Senate appropriators -- both Democrats and Republicans -- are balking at this position, but Senate Republicans may force their members to refrain from earmarking.

PARKS GRANT ANNOUNCEMENT

The Department of Housing & Community Development will issue its Housing Related Parks Program application in December, with an approximate due date of Spring 2011. Eligible applicants are cities, counties, and cities and counties that, by the end of the 12-month period for which application is made, have adopted housing elements that HCD has found to be in substantial compliance with housing element law, and have submitted to HCD the annual progress report required by Section 65400 of the Government Code within the preceding 12 months.

The Program creates incentives and rewards local governments for building affordable housing by providing grant funds for much needed parks in their communities. California's Fiscal Outlook: Proposition 98 Briefing

LEGISLATIVE ANALYST'S OFFICE

November 10, 2010

Update on 2010-11 State Budget

- ☒ We project a $6.1 billion shortfall in 2010-11.
- ☒ Less funding/revenues than expected:
 - $3.5 billion in funding/flexibility not yet approved by federal government.
 - Revenues down $447 million for 2009-10 and 2010-11.
- ☒ General Fund expenditures higher than expected.
 - $3 billion in other solutions at risk—Prisons and Medical Receiver, employee compensation, Medi-Cal, In-Home Supportive Services, property tax revenues, information technology.
 - We assume Proposition 22 reduces 2010-11 solutions by nearly $800 million.
- ☒ State would exhaust $1.3 billion reserve assumed in 2010-11 budget package.

A Look at the 2011-12 State Budget

LAO Projection of General Fund Condition if No Corrective Actions Are Taken
(In Millions)
	2009-10	2010-11	2011-12
Prior-year fund balance	-$5,375	-$5,371	-$4,591
Revenues and transfers	87,041	93,284	83,530
Expenditures	87,037	92,505	102,756
Ending fund balance	-$5,371	-$4,591	-$23,817
Encumbrances	1,537	1,537	1,537
Reserve^a	08	-$6,128	-$25,354

^a Special Fund for Economic Uncertainties. Assumes no transfer to the state's Budget Stabilization Account.

- ☑ We project $19 billion shortfall in 2011-12. When coupled with the 2010-11 "carry-in" deficit, the state has a $25 billion problem to address through 2011-12.
- ☑ Major causes of 2011-12 shortfall:
 - Expiration of $8 billion in temporary tax revenues.
 - Majority of 2010-11 budget solutions were one-time or temporary.
- ☑ Key considerations:
 - Forecast already assumes Proposition 98 allocation reduced $2 billion from 2010-11 to 2011-12.
 - Ongoing federal constraints on reducing health programs.
 - Revenue uncertainty.

November 10, 2010

Lingering $20 Billion Shortfall for Years to Come

Projections likely understate scale of state's fiscal woes:

- Assume no cost-of-living or inflationary increases.
- Excludes unfunded liabilities related to pensions and retiree benefits.

Multiyear Approach to Balance Budget Must Begin Now

Multiyear Approach Could Involve Mix of Permanent and Temporary Solutions

General Fund Budget Solutions (In Billions)

- ☒ Not possible to solve whole problem in one year.
- ☒ Need permanent budget solutions.
- ☒ Revenues need to be part of the mix.
- ☒ Permanent and temporary budget solutions are needed in 2011-12.
- ☒ Each year, continue making some permanent reductions until entire problem addressed on an ongoing basis.

Proposition 98 Forecast

- ✓ We project a decline of $2 billion in the Proposition 98 minimum guarantee in 2011-12.
- ✓ We project steady increases in minimum guarantee between 5 percent and 6 percent from 2012-13 to 2015-16.
- ✓ Local property taxes to grow modestly, steadily over forecast.
- ✓ Both minimum guarantee and local property taxes to reach pre-recession levels in 2015-16.
- ✓ Low rates of growth in attendance and cost-of-living throughout forecast period.

Proposition 98 Forecast

- ☑ 2011-12 minimum guarantee would fall $5.2 billion short of funding baseline K-14 costs.
- ☑ School districts will also face additional programmatic reductions in 2011-12 as they exhaust one-time federal funds.
- ☑ Growth from 2012-13 through 2015-16 enough to fund increases in attendance and cost of living.
 - By 2015-16, Proposition 98 minimum is sufficient to fund all baseline cost increases and restore any reductions made in 2011-12, but insufficient to restore reductions made in 2008-09, 2009-10, and 2010-11.
- ☑ Settle-up ($300 million) and Quality Education Investment Act ($450 million) payments assumed to be paid throughout period.

November 10, 2010

Major Proposition 98 Issues

- ☒ Estimated $25 billion shortfall already assumes state reduces funding to Proposition 98 minimum guarantee in 2011-12.
- ☒ Potential reductions suggests rethinking deferrals:
 - Legislature may want to consider eliminating $1.8 billion in deferred payments.
 - Relying on deferrals becoming increasingly problematic for district financial management.
- ☒ Help districts by maximizing flexibility and sending signals early.

Proposition 98 Maintenance Factor Issues

Unresolved maintenance factor issues reemerge:

- State could create additional maintenance factor obligation in 2011-12 ($3.9 billion).
- Issue of how maintenance factor payments should be made reemerges in 2012-13 ($900 million effect).

Maintenance factor obligation projected to grow by almost $4 billion in 2011-12, increasing total outstanding obligation to $13.7 billion.

State to make relatively small maintenance factor payments each subsequent year of the forecast period—ending the period with an outstanding obligation of $13.1 billion.

State Budget and Transportation Trailer Bill Update

The Legislative Analyst projects a $25 billion deficit in the state General Fund at the end of fiscal year 2010-2011. To deal with the deficit, the Governor has called for a special session beginning on December 6. Governor-elect Brown said he does not object to this action.

While it is too early to know what will be proposed to reduce the deficit – assuming there will be no revenue increases or new taxes – one thing is known. There will be the introduction of a transportation budget trailer bill.

The Legislature failed to pass trailer bill language relating to transportation (SB 854), which included two critical clean-up measures for counties and cities. First, the language would have provided cities and counties with a one-year extension on the use-it-or-lose-it requirement for Proposition 1B Local Streets and Roads (LSR) funds.

As originally passed in 2006, Proposition 1B requires local agencies to expend LSR monies within three years after the fiscal year in which it was appropriated.

However, the state has deferred transportation payments to cities and counties every year in which there was also a Proposition 1B LSR payment. In implementing these deferrals, the state authorized local agencies to backfill the transportation deferrals with Proposition 1B funds to be repaid when the state repaid the deferrals.

As such, cities and counties need an additional year in which to dedicate Proposition 1B funds to Proposition 1B projects and meet the use-it-or-lose-it requirement.

Second, the language would have clarified that Proposition 42 provisions do not apply to the new Highway Users Tax Account (HUTA) (Streets and Highways Section 2103) funds per the transportation tax swap that was adopted in March 2010. The language is necessary to clarify and codify the Legislature's intent for these new HUTA revenues because the State Controller has opined that Proposition 42 provisions do apply to the new HUTA.

The state needs a trailer bill, in particular, to handle some matters concerning high-speed rail.

One of the major reasons why SB 854 failed was because of a major controversy over billboards on state highways. All sections dealing with billboards will be struck from the upcoming transportation trailer bill.

As a starting point for what will be in the bill, you should read the Senate Floor analysis of SB 854 (October 7, 2010).

There is some interest by the coalition of regional transportation agencies who earlier tried to have SB 83 amended to allow for them to be able to have an election to impose a $10 fee and use the proceeds for local streets and roads to try to get the trailer amended to take care of SB 83.

BILL ANALYSIS

SB 854

SENATE THIRD READING
SB 854 (Budget and Fiscal Review Committee)
As Amended October 7, 2010
2/3 vote. Urgency

SENATE VOTE : Vote not relevant

SUMMARY : Enacts various changes in statute necessary to implement the 2010-11 State Budget for Transportation. Specifically, this bill :

- 1) Requires the California Transportation Commission (CTC) to report to the Legislature semiannually on the expenditure of Transportation Corridor Improvement Funds (TCIF) for railroad projects. Additionally, requires the CTC to report and provide a copy of any memorandum of understanding executed between a railroad company and any state or local transportation agency where TCIF funds are a funding source for the project.
- 2) Provides cities and counties a one-year extension to expend Proposition 1B Local Streets and Roads funds for any year in which Highway Users Tax Account (HUTA) funds for local transportation projects are borrowed, deferred, or shifted.
- 3) Extends the expenditure period for recipients of Prop 1B bond funds for regional public waterborne transit from three years to four years. Proposition 1B provides $250 million to Regional public waterborne transit agencies. The funds are available to build ferry terminals, among other uses.
- 4) Directs about $112 million in savings from lower bond debt service costs from transportation-related general obligation bonds in 2010-11 to the General Fund (GF).
- 5) Extends the sunset from June 30, 2011, to June 30, 2014 for cashflow borrowing among transportation special funds. The transportation special funds that are eligible for cashflow borrowing are the State Highway Account, the Public Transportation Account, the Transportation Investment Fund, the Transportation Deferred Investment Fund, and the Traffic Congestion Relief Fund.
- 6) Authorizes the Governor to appoint six management level exempt positions to the High Speed Rail Authority (HSRA) upon the recommendation of the executive director. Compensation for these positions shall not exceed the highest comparable compensation for a position of that type, as established through a salary survey, and shall require approval of the Department of Personnel Administration.

- 7) Requires the HSRA to report biannually to the Legislature, beginning March 1, 2011, on the status of development and implementation of intercity high-speed rail service.
- 8) Requires that the members of the High Speed Rail Independent Peer Review Group be designated by November 1, 2010, and requires that group to designate a chairperson. Additionally, requires the HSRA to designate a liaison for the Independent Peer Review Group. Lastly, authorizes the members of the peer review group to collect a $100 per-day per diem that cannot exceed $500 per month.
- 9) Requires the California Department of Transportation (Caltrans) to report annually to the Legislature with supplemental information on the Capital Outlay Support budget request, including anticipated and realized project costs and schedules for the Capital Outlay Support Program.
- 10) Provides additional clarification that local governments are not subject to the same maintenance-of-effort and other requirements under Proposition 42 when they are apportioned fuel excise tax revenues.
- 11) Places in statute the California Highway Patrol (CHP) internal policy for retaining information gathered from license plate reader (LPR) systems. Prohibits the retention of data for more than 72 hours for all instances when the data is not being used for legitimate law enforcement purposes. Additionally, prohibits the CHP from selling LPR data and requires that CHP monitor its use internally.
- 12) Requires the Department of Motor Vehicles (DMV) to update application forms to provide a space for an applicant to indicate whether they served in the armed forces. Data collected from willing veterans will be shared with the Department of Veterans Affairs in order to identify if they are eligible for federal benefits.

SB 854

13) Authorizes Caltrans to lease space for advertisements on digital messaging signs on the state highway system that are currently used for traveler information. These changes in statute would require that Caltrans receive a federal waiver before entering into any contract for advertisements on digital messaging signs and would require that any such contract be provided to the legislature for a 30-day review prior to enactment.

14) Urgency Clause. Declares this bill take effect immediately as an urgency statute.

Tire-Derived Product Grant Program

Every year, the Tire Derived grant is one of the most popular and sought after grants for cities and school districts. Dozens of grant applications submitted by California Consulting's professional grant writing team have been awarded to our clients. We will submit several dozen applications this year for our clients. If you are not currently a California Consulting client and would like us to draft, assemble, and submit this competitive application for you, please contact our office at (559) 244-0801 or steve@californiaconsulting.org. The following is a synopsis of the Tire Derived grant:

Background Information

The Tire-Derived Product Grant Program (TDP Program) is designed to promote markets for recycled-content products derived from waste tires generated in California and decrease the adverse environmental impacts created by unlawful disposal and stockpiling of waste tires. The TDP Program provides grants for the purchase of various tire-derived products including, but not limited to: landscape mulch or bark, playgrounds, tracks, sidewalks, sport surfacing, traffic safety products, etc.

The project must be located in California and use a minimum of 2,500 Passenger Tire Equivalents (PTE) from California-generated waste tires. Truck tire buffings are not eligible for reimbursement due to their relatively strong market demand.

Eligibility

Only one application per qualifying entity will be accepted. Eligible applicants include the following:

Public entities: California cities, counties, public colleges, public universities, school districts, qualifying California Indian tribes, park districts, special districts, and public recreational facilities, fire departments, police departments, and State agencies.

Private schools: low-income (defined as qualified for the National School Lunch Program), non-profit private schools listed on the California Department of Education Private School Affidavit List; includes kindergarten through twelfth grade (K-12).

Community Housing Development Organizations (CHDO): low-income housing organizations, certified as CHDOs by the California Department of Housing and Community Development (HCD).

Maximum Grant Amount
$150,000

Funding

Grant cost calculation is limited to material costs--installation, equipment cost, and truck tire buffings are not allowed grant costs.

Grant reimbursement is actual cost per Passenger Tire Equivalent (PTE) up to a maximum of $5 per PTE not to exceed the maximum grant award amount.

*Passenger Tire Equivalent (PTE): If a TDP contains less than 30 percent (by weight) of the original fiber and steel that was in the whole tire, then use 12 pounds to calculate the number of PTEs. If a TDP contains 30 percent or more (by weight) of the original fiber and steel that was in the whole tire, then use 20 pounds to calculate the number of PTEs.

Governor's December 2010 Special Session Proposals

On December 6, 2010, Governor Schwarzenegger declared a fiscal emergency and called the new Legislature into special session to address the anticipated 2010-11 General Fund deficit-estimated by our office at $6.1 billion. The Governor's special session proposals would decrease the gap between General Fund revenues and expenditures by $1.9 billion in 2010-11 and by $8.1 billion in 2011-12, thereby reducing the $25.4 billion budget problem that we have identified to $15.5 billion. The Governor's proposals consist of $7.4 billion of expenditure-related reductions and two major revenue proposals. Essentially all of these proposals were rejected earlier this year by the prior Legislature.

The Governor also proposes to transfer vehicle weight fee revenues to the General Fund. This would achieve an estimated $727 million in budget solutions in 2010-11 and $727 million in 2011-12 by reimbursing the General Fund with weight fee revenues for certain transportation bond debt service costs, and also loaning a portion of the weight fee revenues to the General Fund. Under the proposal, the fuel tax revenues that would have helped the General Fund prior to Proposition 22 would now be available for transportation programs. (8 pp.)

Overview of the Governor's December 2010 Special Session Proposals

On December 6, 2010, Governor Schwarzenegger declared a fiscal emergency pursuant to Proposition 58 (2004) and called the new Legislature into special session to address the anticipated 2010–11 General Fund deficit—estimated by our office at $6.1 billion in our November 10 publication, California's Fiscal Outlook. Proposition 58 contains provisions to encourage the Legislature to pass measures addressing the fiscal emergency within 45 days (in this case by January 20, 2011). Prior to January 20, however, the new Governor will be inaugurated and present his proposed 2011–12 budget package, as well as an updated estimate of the size of the General Fund budget problem for 2010–11 and 2011–12. This special session is the first for the Legislature under the rules of Proposition 25 (the majority-vote budget measure) approved by voters last month. It is also the first to occur following the passage of Propositions 22 and 26, which, respectively, restrict the Legislature's ability to use certain local funds to balance the budget and require a two-thirds vote to approve many charges that were previously considered fees.

This brief overview is divided into two sections: (1) a summary of the Governor's special session proposals—which consist mainly of proposals made by this administration earlier this year—along with our overall reactions to the proposals, and (2) a description of the major new proposal in the package, which would use vehicle weight fees to offset General Fund debt-service costs.

The Special Session Proposals

Governor Proposes $9.9 Billion of Budget Actions for Next 18 Months

Proposals Would Reduce Near-Term Budget Problem Significantly. As shown in Figure 1, the Governor's special session proposals would decrease the gap between General Fund revenues and expenditures by $1.9 billion in 2010–11 and by $8 billion in 2011–12, thereby reducing the $25.4 billion budget problem that we have identified to $15.5 billion. This $15.5 billion remaining budget problem—to be addressed by the Legislature and the administration in the next six months—would consist of a $4.2 billion deficit at the end of 2010–11 and an $11.3 billion gap between projected revenues and expenditures in 2011–12. (These estimates may change following the release of the new Governor's budget forecasts on January 10, 2011.) The Governor's plan assumes approval by the Legislature by January 1.

Governor's Social Services, Health, and Child Care Proposals. The Governor's $9.9 billion of proposed budget solutions in 2010-11 and 2011-12 consist of $7.4 billion of expenditure-related reductions (according to our categorization of the proposals). Essentially all of these proposals were rejected earlier this year by the prior Legislature. The Governor's expenditure proposals rely almost exclusively on reductions to health, child care, and social services programs. These include $2.2 billion resulting from the proposed elimination of the California Work Opportunities and Responsibility to Kids (CalWORKs) program, $1.4 billion from the proposed elimination of state-subsidized child care services, $1.3 billion from various reductions and eliminations of services in the Medi-Cal Program, and $900 million from reductions to county mental health funding.

Two Major Revenue Proposals. The special session package includes two major revenue proposals rejected earlier this year. First, the Governor proposes an automated speed enforcement program to offset trial court costs, thereby reducing General Fund expenses by $400 million in 2011-12. Second, the Governor proposes a property insurance surcharge to offset CalFire and other emergency services costs, thereby reducing General Fund costs by an assumed $350 million in 2011-12. Beginning in 2012-13, the Governor proposes to use at least some of the revenues from the surcharge to enhance emergency response activities.

New Transportation Proposal to Relieve General Fund Debt Service Costs. The administration's new weight fee "swap" proposal (described later in this report) would use these vehicle fees to pay $1.6 billion of General Fund transportation debt-service costs over 2010-11 and 2011-12 combined.

Proposals Would Reduce Out-Year General Fund Shortfall Significantly. Our November 10 forecast estimated that the state faced a structural shortfall—a persistent gap between revenues and expenditures—of at least $19.4 billion in each fiscal year through 2015-16. The Governor's special session proposals would involve permanent reductions in state spending or increases in revenues. Accordingly, the Governor's proposals—if they were all adopted—would significantly reduce this shortfall. Our very rough estimate is that the 2015-16 deficit would be reduced from $19.4 billion to somewhere around $12 billion. In our November 10 report, we recommended the Legislature chip away at the state's budget problems with $10 billion in permanent—as opposed to temporary—budget solutions in 2011-12. Additional permanent solutions would need to be added in future years. The Governor's proposals would achieve the vast majority of this $10 billion target.

LAO Comments on the Special Session Proposals

Now Is the Time to Begin Action on These and Other Serious Budget Options. The size of the budget problem to be addressed in the next six months is so large that lawmakers need to consider significant expenditure reductions in every major area of state expenditures—including the areas addressed in the Governor's special session proposals, as well as areas not addressed in his package, such as appropriations for the universities and courts. The Legislature also will need to consider additional revenue options. Early enactment of budget solutions makes it more likely that they can actually be achieved.

Many of the Governor's Proposals Have Merit. Our office has reviewed almost all of the special session proposals previously, as summarized in Figure 2. Given the severity of the budget problem the state has faced recently, we have recommended that the Legislature adopt some of the Governor's major special session proposals. For other proposals, we have recommended scaled-down alternatives that aim to preserve the core services of programs. We will continue to refine our recommendations for the Legislature in the coming weeks. In some cases, the state will need to consider even greater expenditure reductions than we have recommended previously in some programs. In addition, the Legislature will need to consider temporary or permanent revenue increases to close the massive General Fund budget gap.

Help School Districts by Sending Signals Early. In our November 10 California's Fiscal Outlook publication, we noted that school and community college districts would face billions of dollars in programmatic reductions in 2011–12 under the Proposition 98 minimum funding guarantee. We encourage the Legislature to begin working now to give school districts early signals about the budgetary and programmatic framework they will be operating under in the coming fiscal year and beyond. In particular, districts would benefit from the earliest-possible notice of changes to their budgeted state funding. In November, we suggested that the Legislature consider eliminating the $1.8 billion in K–14 payments deferred in the 2010–11 budget package until July 2011. If it were to do so now, districts would have the greatest possible time to react and avoid committing those funds to additional spending. Acting now also would help minimize the magnitude of the programmatic cuts that districts could be required to make in 2011–12. In addition, a significant way to assist districts would be to retain existing flexibility provisions (most notably, continuing to make certain categorical funding flexible), extend some of those provisions (for example, to apply to the K–3 Class Size Reduction and Home-to-School Transportation programs), and explore new types of flexibility (such as removing restrictions on contracting out and priority and pay for substitute teaching positions).

Weight Fee Proposal

The administration's December special session package proposes to use vehicle weight fees to pay $1.6 billion of General Fund transportation debt-service costs over 2010–11 and 2011–12 combined. Below, we provide background information about recent changes in state transportation financing, then outline and comment on how the Legislature could respond to these latest proposed changes.

Background

Transportation revenues come mainly from taxes on fuels and vehicle weight fees and are generally used for transportation purposes. Transportation programs also benefit by receiving funds from the sale of general obligation bonds. The debt service on these bonds has historically been paid by the state's General Fund. Recently, however, transportation funds have been used to reimburse the General Fund for some of the debt-service costs on certain transportation bonds. In addition, transportation funds have been loaned to the General Fund to help alleviate the state's fiscal problems.

Fuel Tax Swap Increased Funds Available to Pay Debt Service. In March 2010, the Legislature enacted a "fuel tax swap" to provide the state with greater flexibility over the long run in how it uses taxes on fuels for the state's spending priorities. The fuel tax swap changed the way the state taxes fuels in order to provide ongoing reimbursements to the General Fund for the payment of debt service on transportation bonds. Prior to passage of this legislation, the state charged an 18 cents per gallon excise tax on gasoline and diesel fuel. The state also charged a 6 percent sales tax on the purchase of these fuels. A major provision of the fuel tax swap was for the state to stop charging a sales tax on gasoline, and instead impose an additional excise tax (17.3 cents per gallon in 2010–11) on gasoline to generate an amount equivalent to what would have been collected from the sales tax. This is because the state has more flexibility to use excise tax revenues to help the General Fund condition. The legislation did not change the total amount of transportation revenues collected by the state.

The fuel tax swap along with other actions adopted in the 2010–11 Budget Act would have provided the state with $1.6 billion in General Fund relief in the current year. Specifically, in the budget plan, $491 million was to be used to reimburse the General Fund for highway and road debt service, and $762 million was to be loaned to the General Fund. In addition, the budget plan included reimbursements for transit debt service amounting to $287 million.

Various transportation funds amounting to $109 million were also to be loaned to the General Fund.

Proposition 22 Increases the Current-Year Deficit. On November 2, 2010, the voters approved Proposition 22, a complex measure that made numerous changes to the state Constitution and to the way transportation funds are allocated. This measure has an immediate impact on the state's fiscal situation. Specifically, the state is no longer allowed under Proposition 22 to use fuel tax revenues to reimburse the General Fund for transportation debt service. Similarly, borrowing of fuel tax funds is also prohibited. This has the immediate impact of increasing the current-year budget deficit by roughly $900 million.

Proposition 26 Reduces State Flexibility. At the November 2010 election, voters also passed Proposition 26. Among other things, this measure could be interpreted—as we assumed in our recent fiscal forecast—to repeal the fuel tax swap effective November 3, 2011, and return the state to taxing fuels as it did prior to the passage of the swap. While the full impact of Proposition 26 is still unclear, it is likely that the state will lose flexibility in how it uses transportation funds and that the allocation of transportation funds for various purposes would change significantly.

Governor's Special Session Proposal

Use Vehicle Weight Fees for General Fund Relief. The Governor's December special session package proposes to transfer vehicle weight fee revenues to the General Fund. This would achieve an estimated $850 million in budget solutions in 2010–11 and $727 million in 2011–12 by reimbursing the General Fund with weight fee revenues for certain transportation bond debt service costs, and also loaning a portion of the weight fee revenues to the General Fund. Under the proposal, the fuel tax revenues that would have helped the General Fund prior to Proposition 22 would now be available for transportation programs.

LAO Recommendations

Overall, we think the Governor's proposal is reasonable and could achieve the level of savings proposed. Because of the complexity of the state's system for funding transportation, we propose that the Legislature take a two-step approach regarding the use of transportation funds to help the state's fiscal condition. First, we recommend the Legislature adopt during the special session the Governor's proposal and an additional General Fund solution we describe below to achieve total estimated General Fund savings of $900 million. Second, we recommend that the Legislature develop and enact comprehensive legislation to address the use of transportation funding in the future.

Maximize General Fund Benefit in the Short Term. Changes made to the Constitution by Proposition 22 do not explicitly prohibit the use of weight fees for the payment of debt service or General Fund loans. While Proposition 22 will likely be subject to judicial interpretation, we think the Governor's approach is reasonable. The amount of General Fund benefit of the Governor's proposal could be increased by about $50 million. That is because the state will collect an estimated total of $900 million from weight fees in 2010–11. Given the state's severe budget problem, we recommend adopting the Governor's proposal and borrowing the remaining $50 million in weight fees to help address the state's current General Fund deficit.

More Comprehensive Fix Needed for the Future. The Governor's weight fee proposal is only a short-term benefit to the state General Fund. Assuming the fuel tax legislation is repealed by Proposition 26 in November 2011, there would no longer be sufficient fuel excise tax revenues to backfill for the weight fee revenue sent to the General Fund under the Governor's proposal without major programmatic impacts on transportation. A long-term solution to benefit the General Fund beyond this date would likely require the Legislature to reenact fuel tax swap legislation or other actions. We are continuing to analyze the components of a more comprehensive solution to these problems.
