

Fresno COG

April 2011 Report

California Consulting, LLC

- Fresno COG “One Voice” Trip: The annual Fresno COG Sacramento “one voice” trip organized by California Consulting was a major success. Approximately 25 community leaders composed the delegation and lobbied on behalf of our priority issues at the State Capitol on April 5 and 6. The delegation dinner was highlighted by keynote speaker Assemblywoman Cathleen Galgiani. We wish to thank all of the delegation members and Melissa Garza from Fresno COG for her hard work assisting our firm with the organization of the trip. California Consulting is engaging in follow up on each item discussed during the “one voice” trip.
- SB 325 Short Haul Rail Update: SB 325 the short haul rail bill that California Consulting took to Senator Rubio (our clients the Kern COG and California Consulting drafted the bill language) for introduction recently passed its first Committee. On April 12, 2011 SB 325 was heard in the Senate Transportation and Housing Committee. California Consulting met with the Democrat and Republican Committee Consultants in the days and weeks leading up to the hearing. We also met with several key Committee Members and staff and discussed the bill extensively. Our team organized a group of leading experts to testify in support of SB 325 at the April 12 hearing including private sector and public sector leaders. Steve Samuelian attended the hearing and testified in support of SB 325 as well. After much discussion SB 325 passed the Committee on a 9-0 vote and now heads to the Senate Appropriations Committee for its next hearing. Senator Rubio deserves high praise and commendation for authoring this key bill and advocating strongly for its passage.
- Lobbying Coordination Meeting: California Consulting organized a meeting in early April at our Fresno office to discuss coordinating our regional lobbying efforts. The meeting was attended by Melissa Garza from Fresno COG, Katie Stevens from the City of Fresno, Stacie Dabbs from the California Partnership for the San Joaquin Valley, Liz Gomez of California Consulting and Steve Samuelian. During the meeting we discussed coordinating our state lobbying efforts and dividing up tasks and bills for follow up. We reviewed each key piece of legislation and agreed on follow up tasks for each entity. The meeting was very successful and we are planning another similar meeting very soon.

- RDA's: California Consulting continues to work aggressively to preserve funding for RDA's. Juan Garza, II from our firm has taken the lead working with the League of Cities and CRA on this important issue. We are meeting with legislators and key staff on a weekly basis at the Capitol regarding this issue.
- AB 890: California Consulting is working with Assemblyman Henry T. Perea on AB 890 a bill to assist local governments with transportation projects and CEQA. We recommend that Fresno COG endorse AB 890 and authorize us to lobby strongly for passage of this important bill.
- AB 231 EZ's: California Consulting continues to advocate strongly for the preservation of EZ funding. AB 231 by Assemblyman Manuel Perez and co-authored by Assemblyman Perea is a key to our strategy to preserving EZ funding. If your city has not already passed a resolution supporting AB 231, please do so and send us a copy. Liz Gomez from our firm continues to participate in the weekly EZ Coalition conference calls and work on this key issue.

Update on California Redevelopment Agencies

Juan Garza II from California Consulting has been working and communicating with the California Redevelopment Association ("CRA") Sacramento office to coordinate a united effort in the battle to preserve Redevelopment Agencies. The CRA has crafted an alternative to the Governor's proposed elimination of redevelopment agencies that provides significant funding to schools that could also help close the state's budget deficit, avoids the unconstitutional provisions of the proposal that would lead to contentious and costly legal battles, and continues local redevelopment's contributions to reviving the state's economy and supporting hundreds of thousands of jobs. A summary of the CRA proposal is as follows:

- 1) Local redevelopment agencies can voluntarily suspend their housing set-aside for FY 2011-12. An equivalent amount of funds must then be contributed to local school districts in project areas.
 - (a) In exchange for this contribution of funds for FY 2011-12 to local schools, the agency will be allowed to extend the project area's life by TWO YEARS.
- 2) In addition, or alternatively, redevelopment agencies could voluntarily contribute up to 10 percent of their tax increment revenue stream to local school districts for 10 years, beginning in FY 2011-12.
 - (a) The tax increment revenue stream they could contribute would be calculated as a percentage of the gross tax increment minus the existing pass-through payments to local taxing entities.
 - (b) For each percentage of tax increment paid to schools, an additional year could be added to the project area life, up to a maximum of 10 years. For example, if five percent of tax increment was dedicated to schools, the project area life could be extended for five years.

The amount of money contributed to local schools, and thus the amount of money the state can save in its budget, is dependent on the participation of agencies. Agencies will have 60 days from the date of enactment of the legislation to decide whether or not to participate.

BENEFITS:

- CRA conservatively estimates that the alternative could raise more than $2.7 billion over the 10-year life of the proposal, far exceeding the $1.7 billion in the Governor estimates that could be gained by eliminating redevelopment.

- Much of these funds (estimates range from $700 million to $1 billion) would be a one-time upfront payment that could help bridge the FY 2011-12 budget gap.
- This measure replaces the draconian and short-sighted proposal to abolish redevelopment. Local communities would continue to have redevelopment as a tool to create jobs, build affordable housing, and revive local economic growth.
- Because it is a voluntary program, it does not violate the State's Constitution or the will of the voters when they passed Proposition 22. There will be no expensive, time-consuming lawsuits, and no bonding or borrowing.
- The contributions to local schools could be used for discretionary purposes, and the State could choose to score all or part of it towards Proposition 98 guarantees to school districts.
- The contribution would not count toward the redevelopment agency's debt limits.

Legislative Update from the Capitol

March 21, 2011

California Consulting, LLC's Juan Garza II, Liz Gomez, and Steve Samuelian are working hard at the Capitol on the following issues and we wanted to bring you an update:

Enterprise Zones: Today, California Consulting Senior Director Liz Gomez participated on the weekly Enterprise Zone Coalition conference call. California Consulting is working diligently to represent cities throughout the State which stand to be greatly impacted in the event of the repeal of the Enterprise Zones. California Consulting continues to gather letters of support and resolutions to bring the voice of our clients to our Senate and Assembly representatives. Below is a sample resolution. California Consulting has been helping lead the effort at the Capitol to preserve EZ funding.

Click to View Sample Enterprise Zone Resolution

Redevelopment Agencies: Last night the Legislature passed the main budget bill, except for the elimination of RDAs and the tax extensions. The Assembly fell one vote short of eliminating RDAs in a vote Wednesday night. The Speaker and the Governor are working to secure the one vote and RDA could be eliminated at a floor vote as soon as Monday, March 21. Analysts believe it will be more difficult to secure elimination of RDAs in the Senate. If RDAs are eliminated, we will work with the League of Cities and others to attempt to bring RDA's back through a policy bill or some other vehicle. California Consulting has been helping lead the effort to stop the elimination of RDAs and Juan Garza II has been coordinating closely with the California Redevelopment Association. If RDAs are eliminated, California Consulting has started working on a Plan B to bring back RDAs in a different structure.

Education Bills: There are currently two big education trailer bills: SB 70 and SB 82 (which deal with deferrals). Below are analyses of the two pieces of legislation:

Gas Tax Swap: The Gas Tax Swap passed the senate Wednesday. It now goes to the Governor and he is expected to sign it. This is good news for transportation funding. California Consulting worked long and hard to help pass the gas tax swap including lobbying legislators, meeting with the Governor's Office, meeting with key staff members, and gather letters of support and resolutions. This is a major victory for transportation funding for California cities and COGs.

Proposed Enterprise Zone Reform Legislation

ENTERPRISE ZONE UPDATE ----- The Latest News:

California Consulting, LLC has been working closely with several stakeholders, legislators, key staff, and others at the State Capitol to preserve funding for the vitally important Enterprise Zone program. California Consulting, LLC Senior Director Liz Gomez has taken the lead on the EZ efforts.

In an effort to preserve funding for the EZ program and combat complete elimination of the EZ program (as proposed by the Governor) supporters of the EZ program have crafted a "compromise" that reforms EZ's but preserves the program and some funding. California Consulting has been very involved with this compromise proposal and although it is not perfect it was incumbent upon EZ supporters to come up with an alternative to "elimination." The agreed upon alternative is outlined in the attached documents.

We are encouraging EZ supporters to send letters and pass resolutions outlining the benefits of EZ's and supporting this compromise language. Some opponents of EZ's are still calling for total elimination of the program and will not be willing to support this compromise legislation.

We will be sending out a sample resolution and sample letter very soon. Please let us know if you have any questions.

Thank You.

Summary of Issues Addressed in AB 231 – The Enterprise Zone Reform Package

This summary has been prepared to assist in the review of the proposed changes in the enterprise zone reform package. Due to the substance of the reforms, the program will be renamed the "California Economic and Community Development Zone Act." Items marked with  at the end of the description are amendments to the original bills.

Reforms to Reduce the Cost and Size of the Program

- 1) Limit Use of Credits and Deductions: Prohibit tax payers from applying credits to more than 50% of their tax liability in the 2011 and 2012 tax years. In the case of the net interest deduction, the amendments limit the deduction to only 50% of the interest earned. **
- 2) Limit Retro-vouchering: Prohibits a business from applying for certification of an employee hired on or after January 1, 2011 if the employee was first hired more than 36 months prior to the submittal. Existing law has no time limit on employee certification, except those that apply generally to tax payers and amended returns. Employee eligibility, however, is limited to those workers who have worked at least 300 days of which at least 90% of their time was in the zone. This means eligibility cannot be established until the end of the tax year, at which time the employer starts the documentation process. **
- 3) Shorten Term of Hiring Credit and Incentivize Longevity and Higher Wages: Reduce the five-year credit to three years, reverse the percentage of wages used in calculating the value of the credit from 50/40/30 to 30/40/50, add 30 days to the minimum number of days an employee must be employed in order to claim the credit, and increase the maximum wage base used to calculate the value of the credit from 150% of state minimum wage to 202% for manufacturing jobs and 180% for all other businesses. Currently the Boeing manufacturing facility has authority for a 202% calculation. **
- 4) Limit Hiring Credits for Relocating Businesses: Limit credits to only net new jobs in cases where a business relocates from another area of the state into a zone. Jobs excluded from this requirement would be jobs that are substantially different than those at the prior location, as determined by EDD. An exemption, for example, would be when a company closes its manufacturing facility and opens a call center. Other exemptions to the net new job rule would include businesses that have received a personal written offer of assistance from another state, there is a need to expand and adjacent land is not available at the prior site, or the relocation is the result of a natural disaster or eminent domain. **
- 5) Scale-Back Targeted Employment Area: Limit TEA to census block groups with 51% low income residents and exclude from the TEA eligibility category highest wage workers (above moderate-income for the county). Current law defines a TEA as having 51% of low and moderate-income residents within a census tract and has no restriction on wage rates. **
- 6) Limit Carry Forward: Place a 15-year limit on enterprise zone tax incentives earned after January 1, 2011. Existing law has no limitation, which has led to businesses holding nearly $1 billion in carry forward credits. **
- 7) Limit New Zones to Low Income Areas: Require new enterprise zone designations to only include low income census tracts. Existing law allows applicants to choose several different economic distress factors, including low income households. Communities can still choose among criteria, but one criterion must be low household income. The reforms also modify the application bonus point system to better target lowest income neighborhoods. **

- 8) Limit Merging of Zones: Prohibit a jurisdiction which applies for an enterprise zone designation that includes one or more census tracts from a previously designated zone from receiving a new zone designation that has a geographic area more than 115% of the size of the previous zone.

Reform to Increase Program Accountability

- 1) De-Designate Poor Performing Zones: Link each zone's required biennial progress report to the HCD audit and zone de-designation process. Currently, there are no specified penalties for a zone's poor performance in meeting its goals and objectives outlined in its memorandum of understanding with the state. By linking poor performance with the existing HCD audit procedures, a process is established to identify and de-designate poor performing zones.
- 2) Track and Report Local Resources Dedicated to Zone Activities: Require local governments to identify in its application the types of local resources they are committing to use in implementing its economic development strategy and then have each zone document in its biennial progress report the actual amount of local resources (including incentives) that were dedicated to zone activities.
- 3) Prohibit Bad Actors from Accessing Credit: Prohibit a business from earning a hiring credit that has been deemed by the Department of Industrial Relations to be a serious, repeated, and willful employment law violator, including failing to abate identified issues. **
- 4) Penalize Zones that Fail to Update TEA Boundaries: Prohibit, for two years, the use of the TEA hiring credit eligibility category within zones that fail to update TEA boundaries in a timely fashion. Businesses in a zone that had previously certified one or more employees would not be affected by the invalidation. Further, zones would be required to update boundaries every five years instead of every 10 years.
- 5) Mandate Registration for Zone Businesses: Require a business to complete an on-line registration form as a pre-condition to claiming the hiring credit, the sales and use credit, and the Net Interest Deduction. **
- 6) Leverage EZ Program to Better Serve Workforce Development: Require state agencies and departments, when developing workforce development and training programs and services to consider how the enterprise zone program could be integrated in better serving their target client including Career One-Stop Offices, CalWORKS and Department of Education. Examples of assistance could include pre-certification of potential job applicants, targeted job placement within zone businesses, and offering training programs consistent with the dominant and emerging industry sections.
- 7) Expand State-Level Reporting: Require a more comprehensive review of the program based on information from the zones, registered zone businesses, and affiliated state agencies. Important new areas of information would include type of businesses being served in zones, the amount of capital investments being made by zone businesses, and wage rates of employees on which hiring credits are claimed.

SB 325 - Short Haul Rail Legislation Update:

We are working closely with Sen. Rubio's Office on the Short Haul Rail bill that affects all San Joaquin Valley COGs. The bill has been introduced and we are lining up support letters for the upcoming committee hearing, set for April 12 at 1:30 pm at the Senate Transportation and Housing Committee.

This bill will be a major part of our work during this legislative session. California Consulting is collecting letters of support from cities, counties, etc. throughout the Valley. Senator Rubio has been a shining star in the Legislature and we are very fortunate to have his leadership.

AB 31 Regarding HSR Depots: California Consulting met with Assemblyman Beall at his Sacramento Office. We are discussing amendments to his bill. The original bill would ask cities that have HSR depots to pay for plans associated with the depots. Mr. Beall has been receptive to our ideas and we are continuing to work with his staff.

RDA's: We are continuing to work with League of Cities and CRA and others to save RDAs. Juan Garza II from California Consulting has taken the "lead" on the RDA issue across the Valley. Senator Rubio has been particularly helpful and has taken the lead in the legislature. Currently, the Assembly is one vote short of eliminating RDAs.

Meetings in Sacramento: Steve has been meeting with the Governor Brown's senior staff at the Capitol each week regarding various issues. Steve has continued weekly meetings in Sacramento regarding transportation issues that impact California Consulting clients. Most recently Steve met with Cal-TRANS Chief Deputy Malcolm Dougherty, Assemblywoman Kristen Olsen, Assemblywoman Galgiani, Senator Berryhill's staff, staff members of the State Water Resources Control Board and the Department of Water Resources, and others.

Additionally, Steve has had two meetings with Michael Cohen, the Chief Deputy Director of the Governor's Department of Finance regarding Enterprise Zone and RDA issues.

Enterprise Zone: California Consulting, LLC has been working closely with several stakeholders, legislators, key staff, and others at the State Capitol to preserve funding for the vitally important Enterprise Zone program. California Consulting, LLC Senior Director Liz Gomez has taken the lead on the EZ efforts. In an effort to preserve funding for the EZ program and combat complete elimination of the EZ program (as proposed by the Governor) supporters of the EZ program have crafted a "compromise" that reforms EZ's but preserves the program and some funding. California Consulting has been very involved with this compromise proposal and although it is not perfect it was incumbent upon EZ supporters to come up with an alternative to elimination. We are encouraging EZ supporters to send letters and pass resolutions outlining the benefits of EZs and supporting this compromise language. Some opponents of EZ's are still calling for total elimination of the program and will not be willing to support this compromise legislation. California Consulting Senior Director Liz Gomez continues to participate in the weekly EZ strategy sessions organized by the Statewide EZ.

Gas Tax Swap Support: We worked hard on the gas tax swap issue with various legislators and staff from both parties. The ratification of this item is very important to transportation funding statewide. We worked hard to organize a valley wide coalition of cities, counties, school districts and other to support the gas tax proposal. The Gas Tax Swap recently passed the Legislature. The Governor has signed the bill. This is good news for transportation funding.

Testimonial

"California Consulting has delivered for their clients. Whether it is their high quality grant writing or their outstanding state lobbying, this is a company that gets the job done. California Consulting has earned a reputation as a high quality and highly regarded grant writing and governmental affairs firm."

Blong Xiong, Councilman, City of Fresno

Fresno COG Sacramento "One-Voice" Successful

Approximately 30 leaders from Fresno County attended the annual Fresno COG "One Voice" trip at the State Capitol organized by California Consulting, LLC. The trip took place on Tuesday, April 5th and Wednesday, April 6th 2011. Several local elected officials from cities within Fresno County were joined by city managers, representatives from the Fresno Workforce Investment Board, the Fresno Economic Development Corporation, private sector leaders, and others on the productive venture to Sacramento.

Several important topics were discussed during the meetings at the State Capitol including (partial list): Preserving Transportation Funding, State and Federal Funding for Highway 99 projects, High-Speed Rail, Short-Haul Rail, Senate Bill 325, Sustainable Communities Strategies, Renewable Energy Projects (Streamlining Environmental Permitting), Economic Development, Preserving RDA Funding, and Preserving Enterprise Zones.

Throughout the two day trip, meetings were held with several State Senators and Assembly Members, Senior Officials from the Governor's Office, Cal-TRANS, the Air Resources Board, and key Legislative Committee staff.

Tuesday evening was highlighted by a dinner with keynote speaker Assemblywoman Cathleen Galgiani, who is a member of the Assembly Committee on Transportation and has been a leader on the High Speed Rail issue.

Based on the meetings, California Consulting and Fresno COG will be organizing and implementing a follow-up strategy over the next few weeks to aggressively pursue the Fresno COG's advocacy agenda.
